

Go Traditional

A brand trusted by many over the years, The Chinese Wedding Shop offers a plethora of delicate wedding-related items, catering to the various Chinese dialect groups in Singapore. A stand-out feature of the shop is that they provide advice to newly engaged couples on the most appropriate Chinese wedding procedures to carry out, which are still relevant in today's time and age.

Whether it is your betrothal day or your wedding day, The Chinese Wedding Shop offers free consultancy service on everything and anything with regards to the traditional aspects of weddings. In fact, couples looking to learn more about the significance behind wedding customs and better understand the various practices of different dialect groups in Singapore are most welcome to swing by their outlets.

One may wonder: Why does The Chinese Wedding Shop do this? The answer is simple. They pride themselves on being a socially-responsible company that is dedicated to passing on these traditions to future generations by assisting couples to discover and appreciate long-standing customs. Taking their business and mission seriously, they only provide products that are compatible with your couple's dialect, so that each unique set of tradition will subsist.

If you are worried about quality and appearance of the products, we say: you may rest easy. Products of The Chinese Wedding Shop are of the highest quality. Their items include dowry and betrothal packages as well as everything you need in a customary Chinese wedding. Yes, that includes both traditional and modern wedding cues as well. All these will make your Gao Da Li a breeze.

A one-stop service, you can trust that items from The Chinese Wedding Shop will carry traditional significance, but are far from gaudy and are definitely befitting of your special occasion.

Yet, that is not all. The Chinese Wedding Shop does customisation for you too. The shop will also advise on the meanings, usage and common practices for the items in the packages, as they believe in the smallest of all details - and will also provide a written guide to the couple for reference.

All these, the Singapore media has given their stamps of approval. The Chinese Wedding Shop's services and products were showcased in Mediacorp's 大小拍档 My Grand Partner (2013), 哪里出问题? Shoot It! (2013-2014), 要娶发 118 (2015), and raved about on Jia 883FM's 与美音同行 (2015).

So, if you are looking to go take a more traditional path (whether it is for Ah Mah's sake or not), The Chinese Wedding Shop is definitely your go-to. Passionate and knowledgeable, you can be sure that they will set you on the right path for a memorable wedding and auspicious marriage.

With The Chinese Wedding Shop, traditional is never lacking.
